Recess Appointment is Arousing Manifestations of Disappointment and Opposition.

JUDGES TO "SWAP HORSES"

Unique Situation Brought About By Appointment of Former Governor Atkinson.

(From Our Regular Corespondent.) WASHINGTON, November 13.-When the United States Senate resumes its sitting in regular session, of all the duties awaiting it, none is more immediate and interesting to the senators themselves than the handling and consideration of nominations made by the President of the United States during the recess of Congress. It is usually within that period that nominations are made which require the most inquiry and scrutiny, sometimes some of them proving to be entirely objectionable to the wise old men of the Senate. It may be that some of the names are of men who failed of confirmation at the last session, and for reasons sufficient to the President, he sends them back to the Senate in this way, seeking a reconsideration of the tardiness of action in that body. It may be, too, that for one reason and another the person nominated between Congresses may turn out, upon investigation, to be sent the normal to confirmation as judge of the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection this lawyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to insposition in the awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Court of Calmin regard as a fatal objection to his awyers practicing before the Calmin awyers practicing befo nominations made by the President of the may turn out, upon investigation, to be unsuited by training, experience or other disqualifying objections for the office for which he is named. Some of the ap-

President Rosseyelt is that of a prominent West Virginian, whose case is of peculiar interests to the people not only of his State, but to the bar of Washington, to the latter more particularly or account of the ultimate bearing it will have upon another prospective nomina-tion which much concerns the district lawyers. Former Governor George W. Atkinson, of West Virginia, is the man in question, and in very serious ques-tion On April 15th last he was appoint-ed to a vacancy on the Court of Claims in this city left by the death of Judge Laurence Weldon.

disappointment and opposition from the entire bar of West Virginia that President McKinley paused in the execution of his promise. It was represented to the President that the appointment to the appointment o flovernor Atkinson by the lawyers who best knew him that President McKinley was finally constrained to reconsider his promise. This he told Senator Scott, who requested Mr. McKinley to convey the bad news himself to the Governor. President McKinley, feeling he could not risk a serious blunder in the case, but anxious to serve the Governor, assured him he should have something "equally good" in another direction as soon as a vacancy occurred of the proper measure. But none happened during the remainder of Mr. McKinley's life. The promise survived nevertheless, and it was sacredly carried out by Fresident Roosevelt. Governor Atkinson was accordingly appointed last April to succeed the late Judgo Weldon on the Court of Claims.

The Senate not being in session at the time of the appointment, the name of the appointee will have to go to the Senate at the next session, along with other recess nominations.

A further complication urged enhances interest in the case. It is a story that a deal was entered into by Atkinson and Judge B. F. Keller, or the Southern District of the United States Court of West Virginia, whereby the two, conditions being favorable, were to exchange places as soon as the former was confirmed by the Senate as judge of the Court of Claims.

Intimations to this effect have reached the legal profession in this vicinity and caused a new disturbance of mind. Judge Keller is known to be seriously afflicted with deafness, and this is a defect which with deafness, and this is a defect which may turn out, upon investigation, to be unsuited by training, experience or other diaqualifying objections for the office for which he is named. Some of the appointments made in this time are of men about whom the majority of senators know nothing, and after they have found out about them, they may turn out to be cut of the question. It is only when the senators come to exercise their nestimable constitutional privilege of giving advice and consent as to nominations, that an unwise nomination may be lawfully and rightly rejected.

Among the recess nominations made by President Roosevelt is that of a promment West Virginal whose cone is consented.

RELIEVE MONEY MARKET

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, November 13.—Secre-tary Shaw has not yet decided to come to the relief of the money market. He authorizes the statement that he will not interfere unless convined that busi ness interests are likely to suffer. ness interests are likely to suffer. Thus far no productive business interest, manufacturer, transporter, merchant or bankers has asked it. He will not come to the relief of speculation. Should any business concern be denied deserved credit at reasonable rates, the Secretary wants to know the facts. He believes the majority of New York loans are still made at or below 6 per cent. Call money The Atkinson case possesses some features known to many persons, which make it perhaps the most unique of all that will come to the Senate of the recess batch of nominations.

It is related that Governor Atkinson in December, 1991, when West Virginia was divided inte two Federal juddial districts, was promised appointment as judge of one the districts—the Southern. As soon as it became generally known that such a nomination was contemplated there arose so great a manifestation of disappointment and opposition from the made at or below 6 per cent. SECY. WILSON'S REPORT

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, GA., November 13.—President Harvie Jordon, of the Southern Cotton Association, in an intervity tills morning says: "The open declaration of Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, that the recent condition report of 68.8 is 'accurate and trustworthy,' and 'which shows that the year's crop will be in the nell/abborhood worthy,' and 'which shows that the year's crop will be in the nelyhborhood of only ten million bales,' should knock out all high estimates and put every-body down on the working basis of a short crop. Secretary Wilson's estimate confirms the report made by this association some time ago, predicting a crop of about ten million bales. As this report is ponfirmed by accurate information from the two more reliable sources, it is unquestionable that the remainder of the erop now in the hands of the planters should be marketed for less than 15 cents a pound, I shall at once issue a proclamation advising this course."
